

It's absurd that an organization like NAB or the FCC can even think of controlling the programing on satellite radio. A private fee type service like satellite radio should be able to control their own programming content. This would be like NBC saying CNN could not prodcast the news. RIDICULOUS!! As a subsriber to satelite radio I welcome the competition that satelite radio provides. If and when I become unhappy with the satellite radio programming content, I will elect not to subscribe anymore. The FCC nor the NAB have any right to regulate the programming on a fee base service. BUTT OUT!

Regards,

Steven King